THE NEWS OF THE WEEK. A Daily Resume of Important Happenings.

Mr. Sterling, Ky., Jan. 6.—Miss Elizabeth Hinson, daughter of T. H. Hinson, of Bourbon county, was badly burned while talking over the telephone. The wire became frayed with an electric light line, the girl's hand holding the receiver was scalded and a gold ring melted from her finger.

The name Preston may be derived from the Latin adjective praeponere, meaning "precede."

One of the first to assume Preston as a name, lived in "Prud Preston," the market town of Lancashire. This town, in turn, gets its name from Preston's town—Preston. In the time of Athelstan, the district was granted to a band of monks, and was called Preston's town, finally Preston, which was a place of fashion and elegance; till the end of the eighteenth century, when Arkwright, a native of the place, introduced the manufacture of cotton.

The first of the Preston family of whom we have records is Leopoldus de Preston, 1165. The third generation from this date, was William de Preston, English noble, chosen by Edward I of England, at the death of Marceau, maid of Norway, to arbitrate between Edward and Bruce, the usurper of the crown of Scotland.

Shayville, Ky., Jan. 6.—The Board of Commissioners, elected at the last November election, are believed in much favor, for some purposes. Everyone of them is a member of the Baptist church.

Five men were buried in Illinois where deadly hot and severe autumn is caused by the explosion of a ton of dynamite in a quarry at Gary, Ill.

It is announced in Washington that the marriage of Miss Alice Roosevelt to Representative Nicholas Longworth will take place at the White House of roses, February 17.

Senator George Vest, of the Department of Justice, in Washington, submitted the statement that letters had been received from Dennis C. Clegg Powers asking for money to finance his campaign, and the writer had been informed that the sum was not one coming under the privilege of the Postmaster General.

McMurry, Ky., Jan. 6.—Eight well-dressed Mexicans arrived near Piney River, about seven miles west of Salyer, Friday, and pitched a tent. They spent some time prospecting and finally located a small camp at the foot of a high hill about two miles above of Green river. They became ill in the cave and when found, were too weak, which when opened, revealed a large quantity of venereal disease.

The man was visited and advised to go to the spot, in the presence of several reputable citizens of the neighborhood. The latter say that the man had amounted to a little less than a hundred dollars.

It is asserted that the man was buried by a Mexican who remained.

The Elizabethtown News has been changed from a weekly to a twice-a-week paper.

The recent issue of a trade journal has a long article on Kentucky coal which we take this excerpt in which Alabamian coal is mentioned:

"Coming out of existence and the first annual output in the larger number of counties comprised in the Central District, in sight of them is known in this country, while the roads for roads and domestic uses not excelled by those in any other field. The most notable cooking uses are the upper and lower Elizabethtown, the former being the one in which the name originally applied. The color made from the Elizabethtown coal is admitted to be equally good, and in some respects

superior, to the best of the country.
